

Program Quality, Leadership & Training

As camps serve children with increasingly complex medical and psychosocial needs, delivering safe, high-quality experiences requires highly trained staff, strong program design, and shared standards across the Network.

Maintaining this level of quality requires ongoing investment in training, leadership development, and continuous learning. Your support helps ensure every camp is equipped to deliver consistent, high-quality experiences for every child.

WHERE YOUR SUPPORT is Needed

🕒 STAFF & VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Training and support for staff and volunteers across medical, program, and leadership roles are essential to delivering safe, high-quality camp experiences

🕒 PROGRAM DESIGN & RESOURCES

Development of shared program models, tools, and practical resources helps ensure consistent, high-quality experiences across camps

🕒 LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Leadership development and pipeline programs, including fellowships, are essential to strengthening and sustaining camp leadership

🕒 PEER LEARNING & KNOWLEDGE SHARING

Peer learning, convenings, and knowledge exchange across camps strengthen collaboration and help scale best practices across the network

🕒 CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

Ongoing program quality improvement and continuous learning are essential to ensuring camps continue to evolve to meet the changing needs of children with serious illnesses

Support across these areas is essential to strengthening program quality, building leadership, and ensuring consistent, high-quality experiences across the network.
